URGENT -- OFFICIAL NOTICE

To: All National Officers, State Directors, District Directors, and Council Presidents of LULAC

Jobs for Progress, Inc., better known as Project SER, jointly sponsored by LULAC and GI FORUM and recently funded by the U. S. Government is about to get underway.

Four representatives of the Regional Board of Directors of Project SER (two from LULAC and two from GI FORUM) met yesterday and today in El Paso, Texas to interview and hire the Executive Director and two assistants for the Regional Office of the project which is being established in Albuquerque, New Mexico. The applicants considered were members of either organization and the LULAC members of the Board who were conducting the interviews were highly disappointed with the interest and response of LULAC members towards this project. Of all applicants considered 85% were members of GI FORUM so consequently all three persons hired were members of the FORUM.

All the Officers of the League are strongly urged to promptly advise all their members that the following Regional Office positions will be filled by the Board of Directors the latter part of August, 1966 and further urge qualified LULAC members to submit their application immediately:

Skilled Bank Director, with annual salary of $12,500 plus 10% fringed benefits.

Two Co-ordinators, with approx. annual salary of $11,000 each.

Statistician, with approx. annual salary of $10,000.

Accountant, with approx. annual salary of $8,500.

Three Secretaries, with annual salary of $4,500.

(all positions are with the Regional Office)

Those interested in any of the above positions should immediately forward a complete biographical summary, containing: Schooling, Job Training, Active participation with Anti-Poverty Programs and individual and group civic contributions to the betterment of the Latin American Communities.

This summary, together with a completed U. S. Government Standard Form 57, should be sent to either: Alfred J. Hernandez, 515 Kress Building, Houston, Texas; William D. Bonnilla, P. O. Box 907, Corpus Christi, Texas; John J. Herrera, Scanian Building, Houston, Texas; or Belen B. Robles, 3527 Richmond, El Paso, Texas.

Time being of the essence, this information should be made known to the Members immediately.

Fraternally, yours,

Belen B. Robles,

FROM: E. COHEN PENICK
7626 30th Avenue
Kenosha, Wisconsin 53140

Dear folks,

Those of you who haven't heard from me for some time will no doubt be surprised at the address, but here I've been since last August! As most of you know, the school in Texhoma was in such bad shape that all it could offer me was a half-pay job, so I looked around. I was invited to apply here at 50% more than I was getting at Texhoma, and I accepted; to teach English and Spanish in Tremper High School, a new $5 million installation, with 2000 kids in three grades. Since I was told that it was a new school, I assumed I would get to select my textbooks, but it turned out that there was another HS in town; and all books had been selected. I had to use the Holt series for Spanish, and I had to use the language-arts approach in teaching English; all of which was completely new to me. I've worked harder this year than ever before in my life, and I'm less satisfied with what I've done! So many things I had intended to do, I didn't even get to start - such as visiting some people I've been corresponding with who live in this area, etc. The weather was horrible too - a snow 1-14 that shut the school down for a day and was on the ground for two months; the weather didn't get up as high as freezing during all that time - along with 5 days of sub-zero weather. After that, I turned in my resignation, effective at the end of this school year - today. That was the straw that broke the camel's back. I don't know where I'm going to be next year, but it will be in the Southwest. I should like to get back to college teaching, but I'm also thinking about the accelerated program being conducted in the SW states for migrant children.

Early this year, I was invited to attend a LULAC meeting here; I was invited to speak, which I did in Spanish. After the meeting, the VP asked me if I would like to teach in a day-care center for migrant children, here, June 20 to August 12; and I accepted. We're taking the census now, and it looks as if we'll have more than 100 children; all of them we've found so far are from Texas. LULAC has the job of taking the census, and, since I was invited to join that organization and did; I'm involved in that too. The "war on poverty" program will finance the school, and I'll get almost as much as I've been getting this school year. We're renting one of the local elementary schools, including the library. It is going to be terribly hot and humid here, but I may be able to stand it. I'm leaving Sunday for Green Lake, where we'll spend a week at the Baptist Camp, doing a workshop on teaching migrant children.

Last week end, I went to Fond du Lac, to see about organizing a LULAC chapter there, and we had quite a time with the Mexican population there. In one restaurant, the juke box had on it most of the songs we got on our tapes at the end of the OU NDEA Institute. I knew they were good, but I wasn't prepared to find them so popular - especially so far from Mexico.

We sent the kids home Tuesday afternoon, and we've been working since getting grade cards ready for the IBM machines; inventories of our rooms taken; textbooks inventoried, etc., but I'm through with it. Three o'clock saw me officially dismissed for the year, and I can't say I'm unhappy.

If any of you should hear of a school that might be interested in having my services for the coming school year, I hope you will let me know about it. The discipline problem here was fierce; maybe at my age I just can't take it any more. At any rate, I'd like to get into a Jr. College, College, or University, where that wouldn't exist. I can teach Spanish, English and accounting, but I prefer the Spanish. I know more about grammar and language than I do about the literature, but I can teach that too.

When you can find time, I hope you will all let me hear from you.

MY HOUSE IS YOUR HOUSE

In Memory of President John F. Kennedy
By Karl Bleyl

A few weeks ago I visited one of this nation's most sacred shrines -- the spot in Dallas where our beloved President Kennedy was assassinated. Many of you in this audience were privileged to break bread with him, to shake his hand and speak with him less than twenty-four hours before his death.

I know the memory of his presence and his vibrant personality will never leave you. I cannot bring myself to refer to him as Ex-president Kennedy, for to me, his presence and his influence are very close and very real.

I spent a considerable period of time in the little plaza directly across the busy street from the building from which the fatal shots were fired. Every little while, tourists stopped by. These consisted of couples, some young, some middle-aged, some old, and small family groups. Their actions were so similar as to form a pattern. They gazed with fixed eye on the area where the President's car was when the first shot was fired. Then they raised their heads to stare up at the sinister window behind which the assassin stood. One woman was consulting a newspaper clipping of the event.

There was no laughter. There were no smiles. Only curiosity, subdued conversation, and reverence. The only man who was wearing a hat removed it as he knelt before the flower wreath standing in the stone alcove of the plaza. To him it was an altar. He had come to worship.

One thing was clearly evident from the expressions on the faces of the people. Each had his own thoughts. I had mine also.

My first impulse, naturally, was to reconstruct in my own mind, the events of the tragedy.

Throughout, I could not escape the deep-seated feeling of personal loss. It was as though I was standing before the open grave of a loved one.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy -- so young, so wise, so compassionate. How much the nation and the world lost that day. How many dreams that would never come true. How many hopes that would never be fulfilled. How many needs that would never be satisfied.

I thought of the programs he had initiated to protect and to promote the interests and the welfare of the people of this hemisphere. His revival of the civil rights program. His confrontation of the Soviet Union in the Cuban missile crisis. The Alliance For Progress. His development of the Peace Corps -- a revolution without blood.

I recalled some of the challenging and inspirational statements he had made in some of his speeches.

"Let us never negotiate out of fear. Let us never fear to negotiate."

"There are those who claim we can work with the Communists. Let them come to Berlin."

"Ask not what your country can do for you. Ask what you can do for your country."

I wondered to what heights President Kennedy might have led his country had he lived. What earth-shaking plans, objectives and decisions were already stored in the brain that was shattered that day? What profound and immortal words were still to be uttered by those lips now forever stilled?

What would he have said and done in response to some of the problems and crises facing us today?

What would he have said to us at this meeting?

None of us can speak with his eloquence, but all of us know what his sentiments were. We all know that love and consideration for his fellowman was the dominating force in his life. I think he might well have said something like this:

I want to thank you for inviting me to the National Convention of the League of United Latin American Citizens. It is organizations like this that form the body and substance of our great American culture. It is so because yours is an organization, dedicated, not to the pursuit of pleasure, but to the task of building better lives for America's children. It is so because it is filling needs which no other agencies of government or society can meet. It is so, because you work not for people, but with people. It is so because, you have asked "What can I do for my country," and you have found the answer.

Such organizations as yours are not only desirable, but absolutely necessary. Our country needs more organizations like this and those we have need to add more people to their membership rolls.

A democracy such as ours must depend upon its social, political, fraternal and religious organizations, for it is to them that we must look for stability in time of peace and support in time of war. Their greatest contribution to our country's welfare is that they put democracy to work in the lives of the individual. This has been true throughout our history.

We need but to recall the roles played by German-American and French-American organizations during the American Revolution. Had it not been for their generous aid of food, clothing, money and volunteers, the cause of American Independence might have been lost.

Just and equal tribute must be accorded to the organizations of Polish-Americans, Czech-Americans and your own for the personal sacrifices they make in the cause of freedom in World War I and II, and Korea.

Even now, thousands of individual American soldiers are receiving aid and comfort from cultural organizations to which they belonged at home.

But we are not here today because of what we have achieved. For no nation or group can sustain itself on past glories. We are here because we are seeking new challenges in the never-ending task of building new lives for the children of this hemisphere. We are here not only because we are men of vision but because we are men of action. There are many areas in which we must work--in which we must make sacrifices of effort, time and money.

In the field of labor and work much needs to be done. A nation's prosperity is measured by its gross national product. The worker who is well paid can and does contribute to his country's wealth and strength. The man who is on relief, like the worm in the apple, eats at the very heart of the nation's economy.

There are those individuals in our society who seek, still, to preserve the age-old system of large profits and small wages. Those are rapidly giving up the ghost. Let us hasten their decline. At the same time let us work to the end that every worker will receive the same pay for the same service and that all jobs will be open to all who qualify.

Education is any nation's biggest business. At the present time it is of vital concern to government, business and industry that our schools keep up with our expanding technology.

We are the best educated people in the world -- except in one area. Foreign languages. Although more and more people of all ages are studying French, German, Spanish, and Russian each year, it is not enough. Our goals would not be set too high if in time every person, either through formal education or home study projects would become bilingual. Shame on us if we do not achieve this simple objective.

I have long contended that Spanish should be this nation's number one foreign language. While it is true that our past lies in Europe, our future lies here. All the people on this continent are bound together by the same basic interests, the same hopes, the same needs. Let us bind them together by a common language. It is difficult to develop understandings and to build friendships through an interpreter.

The League of United Latin American Citizens and other Spanish speaking organizations could perform a great service for our country and the other nations of this hemisphere if they could induce more of their young people to prepare themselves to teach Spanish in our public schools. We must have more native speakers on our teaching staffs in we are to accomplish our common goals.

Let us, therefore, do what is necessary to create a state of affairs in which every child on this continent can understand every other child. Let us teach every child that the words, "FRIEND" and "AMIGO" have the same meaning.

The field of social relations presents us with our greatest challenge, demands our utmost effort and provides our best hope for stability, prosperity and peace throughout the nations on this continent.

All of us, and especially Norte Americanos, need to recognize that all elements of our culture -- our music, the arts, our great technology and constitutional law, were brought from many other lands by many people, and here united into one.

The word, "Foreigner," then, can have no meaning in a land in which those of us who are not foreigners today were foreigners yesterday, and that their customs, traditions and observances become American when they touched these shores.

United States citizens observe the independence days, the festivals and holidays of all the lands from which they came. Cinco de Mayo is as much American as the Fourth of July.

The peoples of Laredo and Nuevo Laredo each year devote three or four days to the celebration of Washington's birthday. In this great fiesta, no one thinks of personal interests national origins or political expediencies. But together, they share a common purpose -- the promotion of good neighbor relations and brotherly love. They have been doing this for sixty-nine years.

If they can do this, why cannot we in Houston, together, celebrate annually, the birthday of the Organization of American States. Houston leads the cities of the world in a number of things: Space technology, Medical research, chemical production. Why can it not also lead the cities of the world in the building of international friendships?

Let us bend our wills and efforts to bring this about. Let us labor until we have set an example for the whole world to follow. Let us not rest until we have reached that day when most common expression heard in our streets will be: "MI CASA ES SU CASA."

Lincoln Wanted Country's Laws Obeyed

Let every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to his posterity swear by the blood of the Revolution never to violate in the least particular the laws of the country and never to tolerate their violation by others. As the patriots of Seventy-six did to the support of the Declaration of Independdence, so to the support of the Constitution and laws let every American pledge his life, his property and sacred honor. Let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father, and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty. Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap; let it be taught in schools, in seminaries and in colleges, let it be written in primers, spelling books and almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in the legislative halls and enforced in courts of justice. And, in short, let it become the political religion of the nation . . .

IOWA LULAC CONVENTION HELD IN DES MOINES...WELL ATTENDED & A HUGE SUCCESS

The Ninth Annual Iowa LULAC Convention was held in Des Moines on June 4 and 5 and was hailed by veteran Lulacs and guests as the best yet.

Delegates from all four of Iowa Councils were in attendance and many guests as well. Attending our day sessions were these out of town guests and members: Robert Ornelas, Contracts Compliance Officer--U.S. Defense Dept., Washington, D.C.; Joe Sallas, newly elected State Director of Illinois; Enos Guanajuato, Indiana State Director; and of course, our beloved National President, Alfred J. Hernandez from Houston, Texas.

The day sessions were conducted in a prompt, orderly and businesslike fashion, thanks to our presiding officer, Paul Espinos, Jr., Iowa State Director, and the Chairmen of the various committees who handled their chores magnificently...among them, Alex Pabon, Jose M. Rocha, Wm. Rocha, Joe Torres, Jesse Mosqueda, Lupe Pabon, and Ila Plasencia.

The agenda included many sound, constructive discussions for the good and welfare of the League as it affects Iowa and equally good resolutions.

During the Luncheon, Hon. Alfred J. Hernandez, President, presented the assembly with an informative talk on his efforts to unite other organizations of our ethnic group to work together for the betterment of our lot. Very inspiring, indeed.

At 4 p.m. the Social Hour served as breather and break (which we all needed) prior to the climax of the Convention...the BANQUET AND PRESIDENTIAL BALL. 'It was an inspiration

Chairman

You and other Committees of similar nature (throughout the land) are about to embark on a year-long adventure in Community Service. Each of you will make an effort to determine the needs of your Community; recommend what action should be taken to fulfill those needs and carry out such programs in this phase of service as your LULAC Councils authorizes.

Your sources of information are the Schools, the Churches, the Newspaper Offices, the Police Department, and other Agencies interested or working on Social conditions.

Be sure that you get the viewpoints of the people affected in the Area where you propose to work. Your survey will show definite needs, thus aiding your Committee to remedy these needs.

If your local newspaper has printed anything (social, political or racial affairs) that is associated with LULAC or Latin-Americans, send the Clipping, including the name of the newspaper, the city, and the date of publication. This will be entered in LULAC IN THE NEWS.
5. When sending photographs please be sure to identify persons or event of the picture as you want them printed on a separate sheet of paper rubber-cemented to scotch-taped to the back of the photo. (Do not write on back of photographs) Also do not staple or bend.

If possible send size 3½x4 or snapshot size. When using Poloroid shots be sure the surface is not streaked. Large 5x7's and 8x10's are acceptable. Color pictures cannot be reproduced.

We cannot guarantee photographs will be returned as oftentimes pictures may have to be cut for printing. If you want your pictures back send a self-addressed stamped envelope attached to the photo.
